

EXPERIENCE THE BEST IN CAMPUS ARTS

An Exclusive Opportunity for Carolina Families and Their Students
December 4 -5, 2009

This December, you will have the opportunity to sample some of the extraordinary arts experiences available to your student throughout the year at Carolina. The Ackland Art Museum, Carolina Performing Arts, PlayMakers Repertory Company, the Division of Student Affairs and the General Alumni Association created a special arts weekend for Carolina families and their students.

The weekend begins on Friday December 4 with a welcome reception hosted by PlayMakers' Producing Artistic Director Joseph Haj at the Center for Dramatic Art followed by a performance of The Life and Adventures of Nicholas Nickleby based on the book by Charles Dickens.

Saturday, December 5 begins with a walking tour of the arts venues on campus, before and after a three-course lunch at The Carolina Inn with University leaders. Tours of each building will be led by the following: Ackland Art Museum, Emily Kass, director; Paul Green Theater, Joseph Haj, producing artistic director for Playmakers; and Memorial Hall, Emil Kang, executive director of the arts. The weekend will conclude Saturday evening with a reception at Memorial Hall prior to a performance of The Nutcracker performed by Carolina Ballet and presented by Carolina Performing Arts.

The cost of the weekend including performance tickets, lunch and parking is $120 for adults and $65 for Carolina students. Please note that students will need to present a valid One Card for admission to the theatres. This is the first time a program of this scope has ever been created and is exclusively for Carolina families.
